The new stand-up show from comedy's internationally acclaimed and award-winning half-man-half-Xbox

'Brilliant' (Mail on Sunday) 'Genuinely funny!' (Time Out)

24 year old Scottish comedian Daniel Sloss started writing and performing stand-up aged 16 and has sold out all 7 of his Edinburgh Fringe seasons to date...

'A genuine twinkle in his eye and a sharp line in observational humour... Sloss demonstrated a genuine affection for the crowd... The humour is funny, intelligent and charming. As is Sloss.' * (4 stars, Evening News)

Daniel's TV appearances include Sunday Night at the Palladium, Michael McIntyre's Comedy Roadshow, Russell Howard's Good News, Conan (3 guests spots in 6 months - the first stand-up ever to achieve this), Paul O'Grady Show (Daniel's TV debut aged 18), as well as many more, his own BBC show The Adventures Of Daniel, given a Tedx Talk and released his debut stand-up DVD Daniel Sloss: Live! on 2Entertain

'Standout act with an irreverent wit... intelligent, razor sharp... readily goes where other comedians fear to tread.'
 (Adelaide Advertiser)

Daniel also co-created and starred in online sitcom M.U.F.F., has toured his solo shows extensively throughout UK, Australia, USA, Europe, has signed a talent deal with Conan O'Brien's production company Conaco and is currently working on his own pilot for Warner Brothers Studios.

Daniel is also totally sick of people calling his comedy "dark".

'Brilliantly dark' (Sunday Times)

In August 2008, aged just 17, Daniel became one of the youngest-ever finalists in the UK's premiere comedy competition So You Think You're Funny? as well as performing on a double-bill show at his first Edinburgh fringe, Life in 2D. Since then he has brought a new solo show to the fringe every year - and sold it out. His first solo show, Teenage Kicks, premiered in 2009, sold every seat and transferred to London for his debut at the prestigious Soho Theatre, making him the youngest-ever stand-up to perform solo both at the theatre and in the West End. In 2010 & 2011 his new shows My Generation and The Joker were each total smash-hits, both selling out full runs in 400 seat venues. The Joker subsequently played to great audiences and acclaim across the UK in a 50 date tour produced by Live Nation after they took him on as their youngest solo comedy client. Similarly his 2012 Fringe offering, The Show sold out its' 4 week season at the Edinburgh International Conference Centre (EICC), and subsequently toured 50+ dates all over the UK. In 2013, his new hour-long show Stand-Up sold out its EICC run, and in 2014 Really...?! did the same with both going on to tour extensively throughout the UK. Every year for the past 4 years, Daniel's new show has been seen by an unprecedented 10,000 people in Edinburgh alone.

In November 2014, Daniel's first solo European tour Really...?! was performed in 16 countries across the continent. He tours throughout USA, had a prestigious solo season in 2012 at Montreal's Just For Laughs Comedy festival and appears at International Festivals including Sydney, Perth, Adelaide, Latitude and in Altitude (Comedy/snowboarding in Austrian alps)
